Malik Designs is the Home for UX Designer
Mohamed Maliks Previous Work and Portfolio

A design portfolio is an integral part of any designers journey to securing a job in the field. The website hosts your case studies, resume and any other relevant work. The work itself is the most important aspect because it gives viewers a glimpse into your degree of proficiency as well as your thought and creative process. You want to leave a good first impression because it could be the difference between landing an interview versus not hearing back at all.
